ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Cleared From Our Exchanges.

Three marriage licenses were issued by the Rutland city clerk during January.

Of 98 cases of sickness reported to the Rutland city health officer during the past month all were measles except two.

At a meeting of the Rutland board of aldermen Thursday evening, Percival W. Strobel was elected a member of the board to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Edward Copps.

J. B. Albee, of Bellows Falls, says that he has had an eye on the Connecticut river during the past twenty-four years and that he never before saw the water so high in January as it was January 23 of this year.

The Loyal Club of White River Junction, composed entirely of women whose purpose it is to beautify that village and secure a proper observance of Memorial day, has filed articles of incorporation in the office of the secretary of state at Montpelier.

The C. H. Grant Granite Co., Brattleboro, drew a big granite block to the Valley fair grounds Friday. The block will mark the site of the old church ground, and will be erected by the Daughters of the Revolution, the United States Daughters, of 1812, the Grand Army, Woman's Relief Corps, and citizens.

The state board of railroad commissioners will probably meet in Burlington or Bolton within a week or two to hold a hearing on the recent accident at Bolton when the New England States Limited was wrecked by running into an open switch. The board held a meeting in Bartonville Thursday on a petition for a new station on the line of the Rutland railroad.

The honors for graduation have recently been made public at the Brattleboro high school. In no list every honor goes to a girl. A girl is valedictorian, a girl is salutatorian, a girl is orator, a girl is poet, a girl is historian, a girl is class prophet and a girl gives the address to the undergraduates. There must be boys in the class for a boy is president.

Burlington high school and Vermont academy are expected to come together soon in a contest to decide the state preparatory school basketball championship. Vermont academy claims this honor at present but Burlington high claims that they have no right to claim it, until the academy has played Burlington high, and the high school boys seem to think that the championship will be obvious after that.

A shocking case of destitution has been discovered at Reading, in the home of Thomas Barrett. The family, consisting of parents and four children, the eldest 13, live in a hut on a mountain road. The children were barefooted and very thin. The mother, Mrs. Barrett, is a widow, and the father, Thomas Barrett, is a man of 40, who has been living on the flesh of a horse, which had died from starvation. It is said that Barrett could find work in logging camps, of which there are several in the vicinity, if he desired.

No Action Toward Getting Pure Water. The members of the state board of health, Dr. C. S. Cady, of Rutland, Dr. H. D. Holton, of Brattleboro, and Dr. T. R. Stiles, of St. Johnsbury, met in Burlington Thursday and considered several matters but nothing of public importance. It was stated that there were no abnormal conditions throughout the state that demanded the attention of the board. It was also stated that nothing was being done with reference to water supplies for certain cities and villages, the matter being now in the hands of the voters in the several places. At the embalmers' examination conducted at the state laboratory of hygiene by the board, thirteen candidates appeared, an unusually large class.

At the "get together" banquet of the Manchester Business Men's Association, held at the Battenkill Inn at Manchester Depot Thursday evening, more than one hundred persons were present, including a number of prominent men from various parts of the state. F. C. Archibald, of this place, was toastmaster. There were responses by W. B. Edgerton on the "Summer Board Business" and by O. R. Bennett, editor of The Manchester Journal, on "Advertising Vermont." There were also remarks by T. C. Boswell of The Commercial Travelers' Association, and L. W. Copeland, of Troy, N. Y., Ernest West, of Dorset, spoke on "The Marble Interests of Manchester," and J. E. Colburn, principal of Burr and Burton Seminary, on "The Educational Facilities of Manchester."

Botanical Explorer Going to Mexico.

C. G. Pringle, keeper of the Pringle herbarium at the University of Vermont, Burlington, will probably start some time next month on his twenty-first annual trip to Mexico in the interests of science and for scientific research. Mr. Pringle is a native of Charlotte, and has passed a life time in working out the wonders of botany, confining himself to research work, until he is now one of the best known scientific botanical explorers. He is the botanical collector of Harvard University, which institution has been the most active in botanical research, and also collects botanical specimens for fifty or sixty of the world's best herbariums, including the royal museums of England, Scotland, Germany, St. Petersburg, British India, Japan, and Australia. For the last twenty years he has passed at least six months a year in Mexico, exploring the country and collecting fifty or sixty specimens and supplying them to these important centers of botanical interest.

KEEP YOUR HEAD UNCOVERED.

The Constant Wearing of a Hat Propagates Dandruff Germs.

There are many men who wear their hats practically all the time when awake, and are blessed with a heavy shock of hair yet if the scalp of these same men once become infested with dandruff germs, the parasites would multiply all the quicker for lack of air. Dandruff would ensue as the final result. Newcomb's Herpicide kills these germs and stimulates unhealthy hair to abundant growth. Herpicide is a pleasant hair dressing as well as a dandruff cure and contains not an atom of injurious substance. Sold by leading druggists. Send for a sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

A GREENHOUSE.

Advantages Over Hothead-Plan For a Cheap Structure.

A greenhouse has many advantages over the hothead. One can put in many a pleasant hour caring for growing plants in the stormy days of early spring, when it would be very disagreeable to do the same work if hotheaded were to be used. Another advantage is that we can control the heat, which is so essential to the growth of early plants. Insect pests can be subdued by fumigation or otherwise. The danger from drawing plants from the lack of ventilation is reduced. Stocky and vigorous plants are almost a certainty if a reasonable amount of attention is paid to watering and ventilation.

It is of some advantage to have cold frames in connection with a greenhouse for transplanting early vegetable plants when the season is far enough advanced that there is no danger from heavy frosts. It is a well known fact that most vegetable plants are benefited by transplanting, whether it be in a cold frame in the open ground or in pots. After the vegetable plants are removed to the cold frames a crop of lettuce, radishes, cucumbers or melons can be grown with very little cost for fuel.

The cost of heating is the stumbling block that prevents many amateurs from venturing in greenhouse building. To grow early vegetable plants a house 10 by 20 can be heated with one ton of pea coal, costing about $4. It would take at least four loads of manure in hotheaded having the same area to furnish the heat. The cost of handling the manure added to the cost of the manure itself would bring the price up to possibly $8 or $10. Then, again, the hotheaded would require more attention, as we frequently have days in early spring when the sun shines for an hour or two, which would necessitate the ventilation and, if neglected, might draw the plants beyond repair, while in the greenhouse there is always sufficient air to carry the plants for some time, even though the atmosphere became quite warm.

A greenhouse in a climate as mild as Philadelphia could be heated by a small hot water heater, such as is used for brooder houses by poultrymen, costing from $17 to $35. Secondhand pipe can be used to good advantage, as there is but little pressure. I would run the flow under the bench nearest the eaves and return against the north wall, as shown in diagram. The south bench should be raised, the north bench to be solid, which is the best for growing lettuce, while the south bench will be found the most effective for starting seedling plants, as it has bottom heat. A pit should be dug deep enough so that the return pipes can be put below the walk, concludes a writer in Rural New Yorker.

Fraud Exposed.

A few counterfeiters have lately been making and trying to sell imitations of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, and other medicines, thereby defrauding the public. This is to warn you to beware of such people, who seek to profit through stealing the reputation of remedies which have been successfully curing disease for over 35 years. A sure protection to you is our name on the wrapper. Look for it on all Dr. King's or Bucklen's remedies, as all others are mere imitations. H. E. BUCKLEN & CO., Chicago, Ill., and Windsor, Canada. Sold at the Red Cross Pharmacy.
